

Six Men Perish as Cyclone Hits State; New 'Disturbance' Spotted Off Carolinas

6 Die, 21 Hurt In Bus Mishap

Michigan City, Ind., Oct. 15 (AP)—A two-decker Greyhound bus, carrying 25 passengers, crashed into the rear of a parked semi-trailer truck early today, killing six persons and injuring 21 others.

Issues Are Debated by 2 Chairmen Hall and Butler Speak Before 1,600

Chicago, Oct. 15 (AP)—Chairmen of the Republican and Democratic National Committees, in a no-holds barred debate, last night argued on the nation's domestic and foreign problems and their effects on the 1956 election. There was no decision in the debate but there was loud applause for both Leonard W. Hall, the GOP chairman, and Paul M. Butler, the Democratic party's chairman.

THE HOUR-LONG debate before some 1,600 persons at the annual meeting of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce was broadcast over the CBS national radio network.

Butler said the Geneva summit conference was a "huckster approach to foreign policy" by the Eisenhower administration.

THE REPUBLICAN national chairman, Leonard W. Hall, countered in a debate last night that President Eisenhower and his cabinet have brought America peace and prosperity.

"Nowhere in the world is an enemy soldier shooting at an American boy today," Hall said. "This whole huckster approach to foreign policy is damaging our world position."

Butler said the Geneva summit conference was a "huckster approach to foreign policy" by the Eisenhower administration.

GOP Governors in Corn Belt Asking Price Help

Des Moines, Oct. 15 (AP)—Republican governors of the mid-west corn belt, politically conscious of 1956, have petitioned the Eisenhower administration for quick action "to restore to the farmer his fair share of the national income."

A four-point program asking for adoption of "short term emergency measures" to bolster sagging farm prices, was adopted here yesterday at a conference attended by the governors or their representatives from the leading hog producing states.

Last Chance to Register

Today is your last opportunity to register for the November 8 election. Polls in the city's 13 wards will remain open until 10 p. m.

Four county officials, an entire board of supervisors and a city government in Kingston will be elected, making this a very important local election. Eligible voters must register.

Be sure to register before 10 p. m. tonight or lose your vote.

Kingston Slump Is Reflected Throughout Most of State For Off-Year Election; Polls Are Open Last Time Today

Registration on the third day in Kingston showed a slight decline, reflected generally throughout the state, compared with the figures in 1953, the last mayoralty election, and 1954, the year of the last gubernatorial election.

The third day total was 2,874, which was 90 under 1954 and 51 under 1953. Total registration for the three days was 8,545.

TODAY is the last day of registration. Polls in this city and county will remain open until 10 p. m. Persons failing to register are ineligible to vote for candidates of their choice next month.

The lowest total registration in Kingston in the past five years was recorded in 1954 when 13,189 registered. Based on the three-day total, it will take 4,644 registrations today to equal that figure.

Upstate cities reported a general slump for the off-year election. Eight municipalities had declines, according to the Associated Press, after the third day.

Three communities in Broome county, which is carrying out its first year under permanent personal registration, reported similar declines after seven of the eight registration days, as compared with the first three or four registration days in 1951.

ELMIRA REPORTED an increase. The turnout was 11,236, higher than the first three days' registration in 1953, the last mayoralty election there, and in 1954.

Heavy, gale-driving rains have cut into New York city's voter registrations, making an unusually low enrollment even lower, the Associated Press said.

ONLY 96,182 persons registered for the off-year November elections yesterday when the area was hit by bad weather. This fifth day total was less than half the number that showed up the day before.

Registration continues for a sixth and final day today. Yesterday's small enrollment brought the five-day total to (Continued on Page 5, Col. 5)

MAYOR F. H. STANG

Mayor to Speak At 100th Church Program Tonight

Mayor Frederick H. Stang is the principal speaker for this evening's anniversary dinner opening the centennial program of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church. More than 400 reservations have been made for the event at 6:30 o'clock in Epworth Hall, Clinton avenue.

Sunday at the 10:50 a. m. anniversary service of worship, the speaker will be Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, director of defense mobilization and president of Ohio Wesleyan University.

He is a Kingston native, son of former Surrogate Judge and Mrs. Harry H. Flemming. The church was founded October 17, 1855.

Model Rail Show To Close Sunday

On Sunday, from 2:30 to 9:30 p. m. will mark the final performance for 1955 of the annual exhibition of the local model railroad system.

During the past week, attendance at the exhibition has surpassed previous years, according to Walter W. Phillips, club president.

"Hundreds of persons have visited our miniature railroad system next to the West Shore freight house," said Mr. Phillips, "and many have expressed amazement at the faithful reproduction of railroad scenery that they find on our quarter-inch scale model railroad."

The 18-year-old local club, holding its 13th annual public exhibition this year, not only portrays in miniature railroad scenery but also offers a rolling display of historic railroad equipment—"from the turn of the century through the present day" (Continued on Page 5, Col. 5)

Many Families Forced From Homes by Floods

(By The Associated Press)

Six men were dead today as a result of a non-tropical cyclone that whipped torrential rains and gale winds into parts of New York state.

Small streams spilled over, flooding highways, and forced some families to quit their homes.

FLOOD WARNINGS were issued for all the tributaries of the Genesee river above the Mt. Morris Dam in southwestern New York.

Dyke Creek, one of the Genesee tributaries, approached the flood stage at Wellesville and the Allegheny river was 18 inches below the flood stage at Olean.

According to an AP report, the entire eastern seaboard was drenched, taking the toll of eight lives in the Middle Atlantic states, including the six reported dead in New York.

THE FIRST BATTERING blow had hardly meted out before the Weather Bureau last night warned that another "disturbance" was brewing off the Carolina coast and might charge inland.

By early morning a Weather Bureau spokesman said it was still too soon to tell what path the new storm would take. If it hits the coastal states, he added, it will be considerably less severe than the previous storm.

The whirling storm swept into western New York early today after striking the New York metropolitan area, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and the southern tier.

TWO MEN DIED in traffic accidents, two were lost when boats capsized in the high wind and one died of electric shock when he picked up a live wire blown down by a wind.

The forecast for much of the state generally today was for showers and cloudiness with diminishing winds and moderate temperatures.

The Tioga River flowed over at Gang Mills on Routes 15 and 17 a mile south of Painted Post. About 20 families fled their homes. Route 15 was reported under six feet of water with the river still rising.

ABOUT 50 PERSONS were evacuated from the Oakwood section of Staten Island in New York city. The eastbound lane of the Belt Parkway in Brooklyn was closed after about 40 cars were stalled in water that spilled over a sea wall.

Light rain fell in western New York today and increased the threats of floods.

The Chemung River rose to a level of 14½ feet at Elmira. Flood walls protected the city although several roads entering Elmira were blocked. The river was rising about three inches an hour, with seven feet of safety margin remaining.

About 4½ inches of rain fell in the Elmira-Corning area between 11 p. m. Thursday and early today, it slackened off (Continued on Page 5, Col. 6)

THE EISENHOWER - Humphrey talk probably will deal with federal budget problems, particularly administration officials' fading hopes for bringing spending income and outgo into balance for the fiscal year ending June 30. The President hasn't discussed such matters since he suffered a "moderate" heart attack three weeks ago today in the early morning hours.

The 7 a. m. (MST) bulletin from the hospital this morning continued to reflect Eisenhower's steady progress since then. It said:

"The President had an excellent night's sleep of more than eight hours. He awoke refreshed and cheerful."

U.S. Risks Prestige To Seat Philippines

United Nations, N. Y., Oct. 15 (AP)—The United States risks serious loss of prestige in the UN today as its all-out fight to win the Philippines a Security Council seat faced possible defeat at Soviet hands.

The U. S. delegation appeared optimistic. It contended Russia today in its failure to push through Poland's bid for the disputed council seat after four deadlocked ballots in the 60-nation General Assembly.

But many observers felt the United States could derive small comfort from Poland's defeat. They pointed out that, by switching its support to Yugoslavia, Russia stands a good chance of blocking the Philippines and winding up on the winning side.

The Assembly will resume balloting Tuesday. Behind-the-scenes maneuvering, meanwhile, could do much to change the picture, but it is still too early to say whether the Philippines had a slim chance.

On the sixth and final ballot the vote was 29 for the Philippines to 28 for Yugoslavia. This was the lowest tally for the Philippines on the six ballots.

The U. S.-backed candidate started out on the first ballot with 33 to 34 for Poland and steadily gained until the third (Continued on Page 5, Col. 7)

Ave Blames GOP for Lower Income of Dairy Farmers

Plattsburgh, N. Y., Oct. 15 (AP)—Gov. Harriman says dairy farmers in New York state would have $900 a year more income "if the Republican administration in Washington had made good the President's campaign promise of 100 per cent of parity for the farmers."

Harriman asserted last night that the blend price for milk would be up 37 cents and dairy men in the state would receive 50 million dollars a year more under full parity.

In a speech at a Clinton county Democratic dinner, Harriman accused the Eisenhower administration of trying to solve the farm problem by "plowing under the small farmer."

The governor said a recent Cornell University survey showed that farmers' earnings in New York state had dwindled to 54 cents an hour. He said he understood the figure had dropped further since the survey.

He quoted Earl Butz, assistant secretary of agriculture, as saying the farm problem was that "too many people are trying to stay in agriculture." Harriman continued:

"In other words, he proposes to solve the farm problem by plowing under the small farmer. "If the Republican administration (Continued on Page 5, Col. 5)

Your Life And Mine

By Clyde Herbert Snell
DOORS BY OTHER NAMES

Most of us start out in life with at least three names: a surname which identifies us with the family into which we happen to be born and two given names which our parents picked out for us. Sometimes a fourth name, a nickname, gets added to the list. Things also, very often, have different names. Doors, for example, are not always marked "doors." Sometimes they bear names like "accident" or "pain" or "affliction" or "failure." As someone has said, "Emergency is often only the door through which a man steps onto a way that leads out and over the horizon."

Henry Charles Suter has told about a young Italian who lost both eyes and one arm through the careless handling of dynamite by others while he was working in an American stone quarry. A lady who could speak the Italian language visited him in the hospital and was instrumental eventually in placing him in a school for the blind. He proved an eager student showing an unusually fine intellect; and he later became the most popular teacher in that institution. In later life this Italian said: "The day of my accident was the birthday of my mind." By his own confession "accident" was the name of the door to the delivery room where a new and wonderful capacity was born. Alexander P. de Seversky, the noted authority on airplanes, made about the same confession when, some years ago, he began an interesting article in "The Reader's Digest" with this sentence: "I owe my career, in large measure, to the loss of my right leg in the First World War."

One truth is obvious about these doors by other names; no one would ever choose to enter them. If we were always consulted about the things that happen to us, and if our desires and wishes did the ordering, our doors by other names would never be entered. We all know, however, that many experiences are ours not because we choose them but rather because some door was opened before us with no alternative except to enter it. And if we were honest with ourselves we would have to admit that we should miss some of the most enriching and rewarding experiences of life if it were possible for us to avoid entering some of these doors by other names.

Execution Stay Denied for Roche

New York, Oct. 15 (AP)—The Appellate Division in Brooklyn has denied a stay of execution for John Francis Roche in order to allow him to testify at the trials of accused slayer Paul A. Pfeffer.

Roche is scheduled to die in Sing Sing Prison's electric chair next Thursday for the highway slaying of Dorothy Westwater. ROCHE CONFESSED to the murder of sailor Edward S. Bates in 1953, a crime which had been charged to Pfeffer. Later, Roche repudiated the confession.

Pfeffer currently is on trial for the slaying last April of Melton Byrd, a handyman. The Bates trial is slated for Oct. 28.

Pfeffer's attorneys sought Roche as a witness at both trials.

The Appellate Court yesterday refused to take any action on Roche's death date, but said he might apply again for permission to testify in the Pfeffer trials if Gov. Averell Harriman grants him another stay of execution. The governor already has reprieved Roche twice.

"What's going on here?" asked East at a certain stage of the play in today's hand. He knew that something peculiar was happening, but he somehow failed to work out the obvious answer.

West opened the singleton jack of clubs, and South won with the ace. South slyly led the jack of spades, as though for a finesse, but West stepped right up with the ace of spades and returned the queen of hearts.

South quickly played the ten of hearts from dummy instead of putting up the king, and this was when East wondered out loud what was going on. The answer should have been perfectly clear. South couldn't afford to let East get the lead, for then a club return would give West a ruffing trick.

East should have overtaken with the ace of hearts even though dummy's king had not been played. A club return and the ace of diamonds would then have defeated the contract.

Instead, sad to relate, East fell into the trap. He played a low heart, and the defense collapsed with this play.

South ruffed the next heart and drew trumps. He then cheerfully conceded the ace of diamonds, making his game contract.

If East had saved his breath and put the energy into more brainwork, he might have come up with the right answer.

STRENGTH OF CAPITALISM

Recently Moscow, admitting trouble with its productive system, urged a study of capitalism, establishing for this purpose an Institute of the Economy of Modern Capitalism. In both Russia and its satellites orders were given to adapt capitalism's efficient management techniques and methods of boosting workers' production.

With merely an executive order, the Communist governments probably will not achieve the results of modern capitalism. Good management-labor relations are based on the freedom of debate and come to terms. Worker incentive is largely a matter of recognizing the demands and abilities of each man and helping him to achieve the best balance of these for the benefit of himself and his employer.

To effect such a balance the individual's worth must be placed above that of a factory or of its production schedule. The individual must be considered more important than a government-imposed quota. There is no place in the governmental structures of the Soviet Union and its satellites for emphasis upon individual worth, nor is there a place for the freedom and power which management and labor exercise within a capitalistic economy.

Russia's exploratory interest in capitalism may lead it to borrow some mechanical techniques which might help production there. Whether using merely the ways of doing things without the why of doing them can solve serious economic problems remains to be seen. What may be most important and what Russia might find lacking in making capitalism's techniques work is that America is not simply a nation of know-how. It is also a nation of know-why.

RED 'RECOUNT'

Vote recounts in this country are an old story. Sometimes they're ordered because somebody suspects something fishy. Sometimes it's just that the outcome is so close the candidates figure a recheck might eliminate a lot of unintentional errors. Enough, anyway, to change the result.

On the Communist world, the recount was a practice almost unheard of until Poland bobbed up with an order for one the other day. Who needs a recount when there's only one slate of candidates?

The Polish Reds decided they did. They don't think some of their villagers showed enough enthusiasm for the cut-and-dried Communist ticket put up recently.

So they've told townsfolk in 11 small communities to get back into the polling booths again and demonstrate a little more love for their Communist leaders. We have no doubt that the demonstration will be forthcoming.

Of course, the Reds could have got a better tally just by tampering with the figures. But probably they thought it would be much more fun to run the sheep through the dip again. A good lesson to those whose Communist spirit may be sagging a trifle.

GREAT RIBBON OF COMMERCE

With the opening of the 241-mile Ohio Turnpike, the development of a great super-road from New York to Chicago moves a big stride closer to fulfillment.

The Ohio highway ties in directly with the 360-mile Pennsylvania Turnpike, which presently is a scant six or seven from a link with the New Jersey Turnpike, leading northeastward some 60 miles to New York City.

Final additions to the 825-mile route are due next year. According to present schedules, the easternmost 50 miles of the Indiana Turnpike, joining with the Ohio road, will be opened next June 30. By September 15 another 75 miles should be ready, and by Nov. 15 the whole 158 miles to the Chicago line will be in use.

The link between the Pennsylvania and New Jersey pikes involves a bridge across the Delaware River. The connecting stretch should be ready by next April or May.

Thus next year promises great gains in long-distance motoring convenience. More

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
THE FROZEN SMILE

Khrushchev ordered the world to smile. He smiled. His associates smiled. Bulganin smiled. Molotov smiled. Eisenhower and Dulles smiled. The press and radio advised the human race that it was smiling time. It was like a chorus in a comic opera—all smiles.

But what were they smiling about? An end to international tensions, they were told, was the reason for the smiles. Everything was going to move better in the world. The Bear and the sheep would lie down together—a most uncomfortable position for both. The Cold War would be ended without a fighting war taking place at all.

So the smile was frozen into a smirk because events move forward and some of them are very unpleasant. For instance, that little episode of the arms deal with Egypt—a logical deal, for if Egypt cannot get arms in one place, the Egyptians will shop around. But that might bring a real war between Egypt and Israel. There is no telling how the United States would get involved in that, or even the United Nations. And there is no telling how a little fighting war could grow into a general fighting war. The Russians apparently do not worry about that, despite the Geneva spirit. Maybe they are looking for a fighting war.

Perhaps had President Eisenhower been well, he might have invited Khrushchev to Washington to talk over a plan to arms-starve at the Middle Eastern countries, so that none of them could start little wars, but that is now impossible and therefore everything must go pro forma, through channels, and there is no telling where these unnecessary conferences will lead to. At any rate, there is little hope for too many smiles in the immediate future.

Geneva seems to have been a gay evening, a happy party, a moment for song and dance. And then came the morning after the night before and there was so little to remember, except that Khrushchev was very amusing and Bulganin very handsome and Gromyko bored and young-tired, which is the worst kind of tiredness. And the Americans wondered why they had ever gone to that particular party because it looked like such a good party while it lasted and then it appeared to be such a bad party and no one knew why it ever happened at all.

At any rate, after a good time was had by all and the guests went home, the world moved in its course, the same as before. It was the same disturbed world. Only the old German Chancellor roared with true German laughter, belly-laughter, loud and noisy and full of guile. Adenauer probably got what he wanted, not all but more than he had ever expected. The old man is full of wisdom and he knew how to stand up against a fellow like Khrushchev who is new to all this business and acts like a novice.

Americans laugh at Khrushchev's getting drunk in Yugoslavia but the old German does not bother with trivialities; he goes to the heart of the matter. "Give me my Germans or I'll not talk about anything," he said. The Germans who had been prisoners for a decade or more and then he got pneumonia or something and he is sick. But Khrushchev is not laughing.

So France has been further weakened. It looks as though France has lost more of the war and the after-war than any other country. Something has gone out of the French nature and that is that famed impetuous called French logic. For if France still owned a modicum of logic, it would know how to build a government that could stand and be secure long enough for France to be restored to greatness. But what does France do? It gets into internal and local quarrels, dangerous anywhere but mad for the French—sheer madness. For France can be overthrown by her own traitorous Communists. And she is in peril from a nationalistic Germany and from her nationalistic Arabs. France is in all kinds of danger; yet the French are diverted from the main task which is to make France strong.

And so Geneva came and passed and we still don't know how to get peace on God, one not for an historic second but for the love of God and man.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.
SAFETY DRIVES

"Last December, a Chicago newspaperman was in Detroit on a special assignment and while walking from his hotel to a nearby restaurant noted a sign on a pole reading 'Speeders Lose Their Licenses.' A little further down the street, he saw a placard which read '$1,000 Reward for Information Leading to the Arrest and Conviction of Hit-Run Driver,' with the details of the case spelled out in smaller type. Entering the restaurant, he found a legend on the wall reading 'Drunk Drivers Go To Jail.' He remarked to the manager, 'Brother, this must be a tough town on automobile drivers.' The manager replied, 'No, it's not like that but this town is tough on bad drivers.'

I am quoting Donald Slutz who is Managing Director of the Traffic Safety Association, Detroit, Michigan. As we all know, Detroit is a town that really believes in the automobile, as demonstrated by the fact that seventy per cent of factory workers travel to and from their jobs in their own cars. However, although Detroit is the motor capital of the world, it was no more prepared for the problems of traffic that came with the automobile than any other city. Consequently in the early '30's, Detroit had a yearly motor vehicle death rate of about 340. However, by 1942 they had a traffic safety team developed and made a three-pronged attack on accidents through enforcement, engineering and education. What have been the results? In the 13 years since 1941, while there has been a 60 per cent increase in the number of motor vehicles in Detroit, there has been a 40 per cent reduction in traffic fatalities! This is a truly amazing record.

We are all familiar with so-called 'traffic drives,' a situation in which the police suddenly and without warning swoop down on an unsuspecting motoring public and begin handing out tickets furiously in an effort to reduce accidents on a certain street or highway. Mr. Slutz says that such drives, which they used to have years ago in Detroit, always creates a great deal of resentment and with this I am sure we will all agree. "Today in Detroit we do have traffic drives, but there are no complaints because we take the motoring public into our confidence. When members of our traffic safety team decide to conduct a special program on a high-accident street, we always begin by doing an educational program. We placard the street from one end to the other; develop leaflets to be circulated in schools and churches bordering that street; we ask editors of local newspapers to give the problem front-page attention. When that educational program is completed, the police then and not until then—move into this street in force with extra motorcycle officers but they often have very little to do for the simple reason that the motoring public now understood the problem and was cooperating in its solution."

I write frequently about traffic accidents because they are now a major cause of death in the age groups from one to nine years and in the older people over 65 years of age. The most accident-prone drivers are men in their 60's who have never driven a car and do not understand the problems of the driver.

Larsen's Washington News Notebook

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
Washington (NEA)—The fact that the first official act of President on his sickbed had to be the initialing of orders for State Department Foreign Service officers points up the unique, quasi-legal position John Foster Dulles suffers as Secretary of State.

It was obviously a matter Dulles should be empowered to do, if not someone lower in the State Department.

But the legal power to do it is vested solely in the President. And so is a whole range of duties which the Secretary of State performs in the name of the President while running America's relations with foreign countries.

This is significant to Dulles' operations during the coming months of Ike's convalescence. The rest of the Cabinet can go on making decisions, signing agreements and running their offices about as before.

But any time there is the slightest suspicion that Dulles is not acting with the full support and knowledge of the President his actions can be challenged at home or abroad and his work will be temporarily halted.

FORTUNATELY, THIS ISN'T likely to happen in practice. Dulles has already established himself as the unquestioned spokesman for Ike's foreign policy intentions. They obviously see eye to eye on basic international goals and the means of achieving them.

As a foreign policy making team Ike and Dulles complement each other nicely. Ike has supplied the ideals, vision and prestige, while Dulles has furnished the know-how of international machinery and the operating techniques.

The man whom the world sees as the face of America's policies is big and lumbering, like a giant, and has a powerful, somewhat awkward, but effective, manner. He is a man of great physical energy, which he replenishes by frequent cat naps.

THEN THERE'S the out-of-door side to Dulles. He's an inveterate swimmer, insisting when possible that each refueling stop of his plane be near some water so he can take a quick plunge.

At his Duck Island hideaway in Canada he makes his own flapjacks and smoothers them with maple syrup which he also makes himself. In fact, he does all of his own chores at the island, including mopping the floors, Mrs. Dulles reports.

And every indication is that Dulles' do-it-yourself habits on his island will be exercised during the coming months of handling foreign affairs while Ike is recovering. In all that has been said about how presidential assistant Sherman Adams has taken over control of the White House operation, nothing has been hinted that he has moved into Dulles' territory.

That will continue to be a matter strictly between the President and his Secretary of State, with only the decisions of the top policy-making National Security Council possibly interfering.

Banks of the nation, "and of this community," he said, "are an essential part of our economic structure."

Local banks, he said, "have played an important role in the development and progress of our city." By wise counsel and precept, he said, they assist individuals, business and industry to lay groundwork today for a sound and continuing prosperity, despite international tension.

France May Have New Election

Paris, Oct. 15 (AP)—The possibility of new general election in France was posed today by the impending vote on a question of confidence in the government of Premier Edgar Faure in the National Assembly.

Most of the deputies were in their home districts for the weekend getting the reaction of the voters to Premier Faure's Algerian policy, on which the assembly will vote Tuesday.

THE PREMIER demanded the vote of confidence when it appeared he was headed for certain defeat. He has proposed a policy of limited reforms in Algerian economics, agriculture and politics, including free elections and consultation with the Algerians themselves. Algeria is considered a part of France itself. But 320,000 troops are in North Africa fighting rebel bands and most of these troops are in Algeria.

By asking for a vote of confidence, Faure automatically postponed a showdown, thus winning time for political maneuvering.

Stalin's Son Killed In Nazi Camp in '45

Camp Friedland, Germany, Oct. 15 (AP)—Stalin's son Jacob was shot to death in a Nazi concentration camp in 1945 after he flung himself on an electrified barbed-wire fence, a returning German war prisoner said today.

The story was brought back by Maj. Walter Reuschle, pre-war director of Radio Stuttgart. He said he interviewed Stalin's son, known as Jacob Djugashvili, in 1941 after the latter was captured on the eastern front.

He said he got the details from the commandant of Oranienburg concentration camp near Berlin, where Jacob was a prisoner of war.

"Stalin's son suddenly made a dash for the high-voltage fence and flung himself on it," Reuschle said he was told.

"When SS guards shouted at him to get away from the fence," he said, "the Russian refused. Then they shot him." Reuschle said Stalin's son apparently decided to commit suicide when he heard that the Red army was approaching Berlin, because he was afraid of getting captured.

Molotov Missing From Red Talks

Moscow, Oct. 15 (AP)—Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev are holding top-level conferences in the Crimea with their chief military, trade and political aides.

Conspicuously absent from the talks at Sevastopol was Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, who recently confessed to an ideological error.

TASS, official Soviet news agency, said the "leaders of the party and government" were assembled at Sevastopol.

Among those reported present were A. I. Mikoyan, the foreign trade expert; Marshal Georgi Zhukov, the defense chief; President Marshal Klement Voroshilov; Navy Minister Adm. N. G. Kuznetsov; A. I. Kirichenko, first secretary of the Ukrainian Communist party; and Adm. S. G. Gorshkov.

out complications." In Washington, associates said that Humphrey had no pressing decisions on budget or tax matters to take up with the President. They reported Humphrey was taking some good news to the President about the free world's economic outlook.

Humphrey's associates said the major item he would talk over with Eisenhower is a report that economic conditions throughout the free world, and especially in Europe, are good and improving.

BEYOND THAT, they said, the discussion would be pretty much up to the President, and might range from "duck hunting to the budget, taxes or anything else Eisenhower may want to talk about."

Returning to Denver with Humphrey was Eisenhower's chief deputy, Sherman Adams, who has been shuttling between here and Washington as top liaison man between officials in the capital and the recuperating President.

The accent on recuperation was heavy—and the brightest yet—yesterday as the President, in a quiet way, really celebrated the 65th anniversary of his birth.

THERE WERE GIFTS galore and the flood of congratulatory messages from the plain folk and the high and the mighty all over the world numbered, presidential aides reported, in the tens of thousands.

"The mail room is full of it and there are flowers all over the hospital," James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told newsmen.

And he added with a happy Irish smile of his own that "the President and Mrs. Eisenhower are deeply appreciative of the expressions of good wishes they have received."

Probably the finest birthday present Eisenhower received was word from his Fitzsimons Army Hospital doctors that yesterday, for the first time, his cardiogram—indicating status of the heart healing process—had "stabilized at a satisfactory level."

ONLY LAST SUNDAY, Dr. Paul Dudley White, eminent Boston heart specialist, reported that stabilization—an eagerly awaited milestone—was slow in coming in Eisenhower's case. And White indicated it might have been longer in coming than it actually was.

White reported at the same time, however, that the President already had progressed to a point where development of dreaded complications was unlikely—would, in fact, be a rarity.

And the doctor outlined a more liberal hospital routine starting today. During this fourth week of recovery, White said, Eisenhower could count on being permitted to sit up a bit for the first time.

4 GLF Members To Attend Confab Of Stockholders

Four representatives of L. C. Dixon and Sons, Fair street extension, will attend the 35th annual stockholders' meeting of Cooperative GLF Exchange Inc., on Oct. 20-21 in Syracuse.

Attending from here are Joseph Browne, Charles F. Relyea, Harry T. Siemsen and L. C. Dixon.

SOME 3,000 committeemen, representing over 500 local committees, are expected to attend the meeting in the Onondaga County War Memorial, which features election of seven directors, reports by cooperative executives and main speaker the Rev. Charles Noble, dean of Hendricks Chapel, Syracuse University.

A farm exhibit, built around the theme of "Better Farming to Feed a Growing America," will include over 50 exhibits of GLF commodities and services, for farmers of New York, New Jersey and northern Pennsylvania.

Claim Falsehoods Stated on Road Bond Information

Those who oppose the bond amendment for improvement of roads in New York State appear to be spreading falsehoods in regard to tax refunds on gasoline used for farm equipment, according to an announcement by John W. Johnson, superintendent of New York State Department of Public Works.

THE TRUTH is that farmers will receive refunds on the two cent gas tax increase in precisely the same manner that they are receiving refunds on present gasoline tax said Mr. Johnson.

There is no law existing, said Mr. Johnson, or contemplated, which would alter this procedure in any way.

Civil Service Exam

An examination for career conditional appointment to the positions of organization and methods examiner and budget examiner has been announced by the director, second region, United States Civil Service Commission, New York, to fill vacancies in various federal agencies in the states of New Jersey and New York. These positions pay $3,440 and $6,390 per annum.

The application form or information where to obtain the form can be obtained at any post office except New York city or from the director, Second United States Civil Service Region, Federal Building, Christopher street, New York 14. Application must be received in the regional office or postmarked not later than Nov. 9.

Po'keepsie Man Gets Post in Road Group

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 15 (AP)—Glen I. Hawks, of the town of German Flats, is the new president of the New York State Society of Town Highway Superintendents.

At a three-day convention which ended here yesterday the following were elected vice presidents:

Thomas Glynn, town of West Seneca; Frank Conrad, town of Sanford; Edward R. Maier, Poughkeepsie; and Frank J. Clark, town of Greene.

F. Theodore Jenzen was re-elected secretary-treasurer. The delegates chose Elmira as the site for next year's convention.

GOP Governors

Butz and Fred Seaton, deputy assistant to President Eisenhower.

Butz reported the government has been considering a hog buying program but he did not know when one could be put into effect.

"We don't want to buy more than we can use," he said. The conference, however, said in regard to emergency measures, "we cannot urge too strongly that such measures be taken as quickly as possible."

Gov. Fred Hall of Kansas when asked for comment after the meeting said: "All being Republican governors we had 1956 very much in mind when we wrote that statement. We want the national administration to take our program seriously, to respect our position in the matter and to give us the help which is politically necessary."

The four-point program calls for:

1. Purchasing and support program of farm commodities for use, and not for destruction "to relieve the farm price squeeze which has been developing for many years."

2. Short term emergency measures "to restore to the farmer his fair share of the national income and to place him on an equitable basis with the rest of our nation's economy."

3. Creation by the states themselves of committees of farmers and farm related industries to improve sale and distribution of all farm products.

4. Consideration by the Department of Agriculture and Conservation of national soil conservation policy, encouraging farmers to "store fertility in land not needed for current production against the day when our expanding population or national emergency will require additional food and fiber."

tion in Washington had made good the President's campaign promise of 100 per cent parity for the farmers, what that would mean for New York state! In the dairy industry alone it would mean an increase of 57 cents in the price of milk, $900 more income annually for each dairy farmer, on the average, and 50 million dollars more for dairy farmers in the state as a whole. And there would be comparable increases for other products.

Harriman assailed the state Republican organization for its assertion in last year's election campaign that if he were elected governor the state would cut aid to upstate schools.

Model Rail Show

Diesel age," said the club president. Located at 541 Broadway, off Susan street, the club is housed in a building that affords approximately 100 feet in length to portray a railroad system in action. Each year new scenes and displays are added to the original equipment with the basic idea to create as closely as possible in miniature, a complete railroad system.

Check Burning Wire

Engine 2 from Central Station was dispatched at 10:16 a. m. today to check a burning wire on Abruzz street. Firemen notified Central Hudson.

Many Families

late last night.

TIDES OF FIVE to six feet above normal were expected in New York harbor, the Harlem river, the East river and the lower reaches of the Hudson. They were expected to reach five to seven feet above normal in Long Island Sound.

Airline canceled many flights upstate. The high water caused ferries between Manhattan and Staten Island to stop carrying vehicles. Three large ferries, with 3,000 passengers each, were anchored in the bay for hours, waiting for the water to subside.

A temporary bridge was washed out just off Route 16 in Cattaraugus county between Allegany and Olean.

A FOOT OF WATER was reported on three lanes of Route 17 near Hillburn in Rockland county. The fourth lane was barely passable with seven to eight inches. A temporary bridge washout on Route 42 near Middletown forced detours on Routes 17 and 209 between Port Jervis and Monticello.

Other highway closings reported by state police:

Routes 17 and 17E at Big Flats, about 12 miles west of Elmira; Route 15 north and south of Painted Post; Rt. 427 between Chemung, N. Y., and Willowana, Pa.; Route 14 just north of Elmira; and Route 328 from Southport to the Pennsylvania state line. Route 16 was reported hazardous but passable north of Olean.

POWER FAILURES were reported on Long Island and at Syracuse and Utica. Television station WHEN-TV, Syracuse, was shut down for a time.

The gusty winds shattered the display windows of a drug store in Utica.

Over 125,000 homes were darkened in Nassau county when wind blew power lines down.

The weather bureau called the storm an "extra-tropical cyclone" and said it would center over western New York today. In a special bulletin last night the Albany Weather Bureau said the additional rainfall in eastern New York would not exceed one inch, ending the danger of flooding there.

HIGH WINDS whipped eastern New York yesterday but the rain was light.

William R. Hughes, 46, was killed when his automobile crashed into a tree near Castleton. Ray Spears, 20, was killed when his car struck a tree near Silver Creek. Both accidents occurred in heavy rain.

At Bridgeport, Madison county, Morton King died of electric shock when he tried to move a wire blown across a highway.

WALTER F. DUPREY, 31, of Potsdam, and Ernest Little, about 39, of Elmira, were lost in separate boating accidents.

Duprey disappeared when a rowboat capsized on Carry Falls Reservoir in St. Lawrence county. State police said the wind overturned his heavily loaded boat. Little's boat overturned while he was trying to row across Seelye creek near Elmira.

Three harness-race programs were cancelled last night because of the storm—at Batavia Downs, Saratoga Raceway and Yonkers Raceway.

But 700 fans, a normal crowd, watched Cortland Teachers slog through the mud to beat Ithaca College in football, 28-0. Heavy rain fell before the game and there was intermittent showers while it was played.

The Weather Bureau reported the following rainfall records for the 24-hour period that began at 8:30 a. m. yesterday and for the 48-hour period that began at 8:30 a. m. Thursday:

Buffalo, 1.10 inches, 2.33 inches; Rochester, 1.54, 3.79; Syracuse, 2.4, 3.7; Elmira, 1.55, 4; Binghamton, 6.6, 8.4; Oneonta, 2.3, 2.3; Sampson Air Force Base, 1.31, 3.56; Utica, 1.1, 1.1; Watertown, 1.1, 1.1; Massena, .09, .09; Glen Falls, 1.14, 1.14; Albany, 4.3, 4.3; Poughkeepsie, 8.7, 8.7; Newburgh 1.40, 1.40; New York city, 1.86, 1.86.

Fire Chief Brett Lists Fire Prevention Factors

More than 11,000 persons lose their lives and one billion dollars in property is lost each year in one of the nation's greatest disasters according to a statement by Fire Chief James Brett during the final days of Fire Prevention Week.

This disaster did not occur in a single day, it took 365 days to accomplish it. However, the net result is the same because it occurred last year and has been occurring to a greater or lesser extent in each year past.

Can this terrible and tragic loss of human lives and property be lessened? The answer is yes. In answer to the question, How?

The application of simple fire prevention, and fire prevention is a simple thing, if a few elementary facts are known and applied. The facts are these. First what are the principal causes of fire are three in number. They are, men, women and children, in short, people. How do people cause fires? 1. Carelessness (causes the largest percentage); 2. Negligence; 3. Ignorance and 4. Design (that is deliberately). Now that we know the facts the application of these facts consists in a few simple do and don'ts.

DON'T SMOKE in bed; don't own ash trays where cigarettes rest on outside edge. Rather buy the type where cigarette or cigar rests near the center so as when it burns down it cannot fall off; don't leave matches where children can get them and don't try to save money by doing dry-cleaning at home. (A gallon of gasoline has the explosive potential of 85 pounds of dynamite.)

Don't leave open fires indoors or outdoors unattended; don't leave paint or oil soaked rags in house; don't ever go to bed if you smell smoke or odor of burning before you find its source. If you cannot find this source quickly call the fire department immediately.

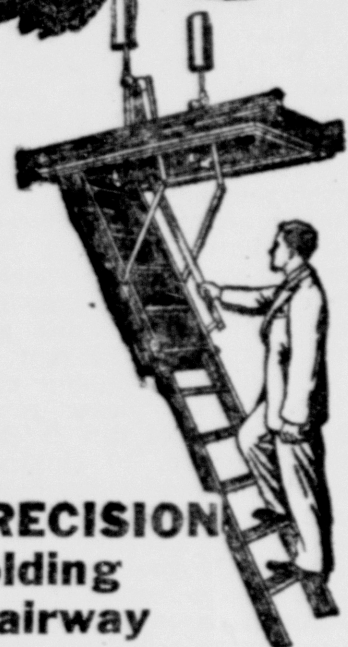

Don't leave open fires indoors or outdoors unattended; don't leave paint or oil soaked rags in house

Aluminum Nails
Increase in Popularity

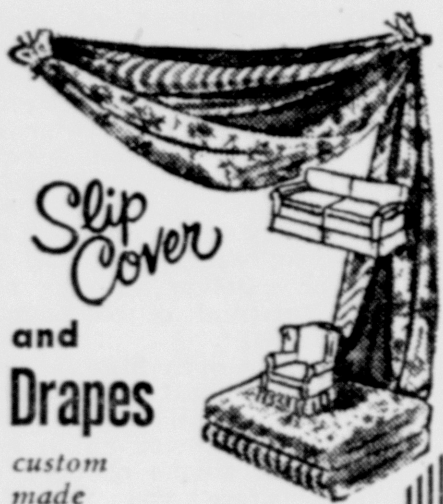

Aluminum nails are on the increase in popularity, and at present five per cent of all nails in use are of this light material. They cost approximately $2.50 more than ordinary nails for the exterior nailing of a standard five-room house, but eliminate the need for $40 to $50 worth of work in countersinking and putting. Inside, they may be used with cheap water base paints without rusting or staining.

Carpeting Stairs

Stairways receive concentration wear which absorbs as much as ten times normal traffic in other carpet areas. It's smart economy to include a little extra yardage in your original purchase to allow for "shifting"—that is, moving the carpet a couple of inches and hiding the worn area under the tread at the top of the riser. The original extra length is tucked under at the top or bottom of the stairway in the beginning.

Frequent Switching

The life of fluorescent lamps, unlike that of filament bulbs, is shortened by turning them on and off unnecessarily. Light experts point out that it is economy to keep fluorescent lamps burning when you leave a room for a short while.

THE LOGANPORT

Handsome And Truly Different

Rooms ..... Eight
Bedrooms ..... Four Baths ..... Two
Cubage ..... 37,000 ft.
Dimensions ..... 50' x 27'

Because it is such a handsome house with such a strikingly "different" style, "The Loganport" will be a distinctive decorative asset in any neighborhood; it will be "at home" on level or sloping ground. An abundance of windows greatly enhances the overall appearance of the house; bay windows plus the small but decorative window looking out on the front terrace add greatly to the appeal of the front of "The Loganport."

Measuring 50'x27', this house requires at least a 70 foot lot. Cubage of "The Loganport" is 37,000 feet. A front facing fieldstone and a clapboard finish on the rest of the house seem best to bring out the distinctive architectural features of this charming home.

Both the front terrace and the entryway itself can be made as attractive as the home owner desires. Appropriate plantings such as small, friendly shrubs and bushes and the addition of distinctive little "extras" such as an old-fashioned lantern above the front door and a brass knocker on the door, can do much to give the front of "The Loganport" a real personality. Centrally located on the first floor of the house, the library is a pleasant, well lighted room containing three windows. Bookshelves line the front wall of the room. There also are bookshelves built into the two back corners of the room; thus the family that lives in "The Loganport" will have no excuse for leaving books lying around on tables, couches, etc.

If preferred, this room designated as a library could serve as a den or as a guest room. The homemaker can have the room serve two purposes if she so desires.

Although a two car garage is specified in the accompanying plan, a one car garage can be constructed instead. Such an arrangement should, of course, be made with the building contractor before actual construction is started.

Welcome features in "The Loganport" are the two bathrooms on the second floor. These baths will be especially appreciated during the morning rush by the large family living in this comfortable, well-planned home.

Both the heating plant and the laundry should be installed in the basement of "The Loganport."

Thorough Preparation
Needed for Paint Job

Expert results in painting depend largely on the thoroughness of preparatory work, especially on cleaning, crack-filling and sealing. For a professional-appearing job, loosen the canopies of lighting fixtures and remove plates from wall switches and outlets. Remove hardware from doors, windows and cabinets. Chromium hardware can be immersed in a strong solution of cleaning powder until you're ready to replace it. Then, of course, it should be rinsed and dried.

Home Repair
Dos—Don'ts

Use of Dowels

DO . . . remember that dowels (round sticks) come in many different lengths and diameters, the most usual length being 36 inches and the most usual diameters ranging from one-eighth of an inch to one inch.

DO . . . buy ready-made dowels from lumber yards, building supply houses, hardware stores and mail-order companies which sell kits of assorted sizes.

DO . . . get perfect dowel joints by taking extra care to see that the drilled holes in each piece of wood to be joined are aligned perfectly.

DO . . . if you make dowel joints fairly often, use a commercially-made hole aligner, such as a dowel jig or dowel center, to insure accuracy.

DO . . . file a few grooves in the dowels to permit the escape of glue and air when the joint is made—unless you buy special types of dowels with grooves or spirals in them.

DON'T . . . fit dowels too tightly or they will split the wood; don't fit them too loosely or it will be difficult to get the joints straight.

DON'T . . . fail to clamp the two pieces of wood together, whenever possible, while the glue in the dowel joint is drying.

DON'T . . . neglect the use of dowels to repair joints which have loosened or come apart over a period of years.

DON'T . . . forget that dowels can be used for many things other than to make joints, such as decorative supports and (in the extra-large sizes) for furniture legs.

Grasp Hammer Close
If Light Tap Is Needed

Using tools efficiently is as important as having them handy around the house, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Grasp a hammer close under the head for the light tap needed for starting a nail or tacking. Hold the ends of the handle for long, strong strokes.

Use a screw driver with a blade as wide but no wider than the slot of the screw. Put pressure on the push, not on the twist. Pliers are mechanical fingers for tight holding. Use pliers for twisting wire or pulling out headless nails. A wrench is the tool for nuts and bolts, not pliers.

To Tack Window Screen

In putting new window screening on an old frame, begin by tacking down the top edge. Then pull the screening down evenly and tightly to the bottom and check to see that the sides of it are even with the frame. Nail down the bottom and then the sides, tacking the molding in place with wire brads.

Tillson

Voting Is Slated Tuesday to House Fire Equipment

Tillson, Oct. 14 — Next Tuesday night, Oct. 18, residents of the Tillson Fire District will have the privilege of voting at the firehall upon the proposal offered by the board of fire commissioners, regarding required housing for the fire fighting equipment of the Tillson Fire District and the Tillson Volunteer Fire Company.

The regular meeting of the board of fire commissioners was held Wednesday night, and among those other than commissioners present were G. A. Ryerson, president of the Tillson Civic Association; Alvin Winfield, treasurer of the Tillson Civic Association and Hollis Harvey, president of the Tillson Volunteer Fire Company. The commissioners explained the purpose of the proposed additions to the present fire hall and engine house, in order that the various representatives might better be in a position to inform members of their respective organizations details about the proposal.

SUMMING UP the situation, the commissioners said that at present there is room only for the fire engine. The Tillson Volunteer Fire Company owns a tank truck, which has been found exceptionally useful in several recent fires out-of-the-district, and, of course, could be equally as desirable for any fire within the district. At present, there is no adequate housing in Tillson for this piece of equipment, and plans are being made to house it in the Rosendale Firehouse now under construction. The commissioners feel that it is essential to keep this equipment in Tillson. Also, with an eye on the future needs of this growing community, they have, in their proposed additions, made ample room for more equipment, such as an ambulance or other fire fighting engines. Briefly, the discussions include: enlarging the present engine house, making it about 12 feet longer, and widening the engine house so that it would be a 3 to 5 vehicle garage.

PLANS HAVE been made by an architect and engineer, and a sketch will be shown. It is figured that the cost will be about $12,000. It was pointed out by the commissioners that before any construction would start, if the voters approve the

Jewish Appeal Nets $10,330,000

Leaders of the United Jewish Appeal from all parts of the country came forward here Thursday with checks for the UJA totalling $10,330,000 to help the Appeal top a $10,000,000 cash goal it had set 45 days ago following receipt of pleas by Jews in disturbed Morocco for the earliest possible removal to Israel.

The checks, representing proceeds of a giant cash-collection effort that got underway on August 30, were presented to Edward M. M. Warburg, president of the UJA, and Sol Luckman of Cincinnati, the Appeal's national cash chairman. The United Jewish Appeal of Greater New York led the list of campaign affiliates with $1,500,000, followed by Chicago and Los Angeles with $1,000,000 each.

THE HUGE dollar outflow came as the high point of a farewell meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel for a 60-member UJA Overseas Study Mission.

The Mission leaves today from New York International Airport via El Al Israel Airlines to survey priority Jewish immigration, settlement, welfare and rehabilitation needs in Western Europe, Israel and North Africa. It will return here early in November to report its findings, which will help the Appeal plan the balance of its 1955 campaign, and its drive for 1956. The 60-member Mission is being headed by William Rosenwald of New York, General Chairman of the UJA.

Mr. Warburg, speaking as a member of the 69-man Mission, told the meeting that receipts of the $10,330,000 cash proceed "will enable the UJA Mission to give a direct assurance next Thursday to the Jewish Agency in Jerusalem that it can go ahead at full speed with its plan to bring an additional 8,500 Moroccan Jews to Israel during the rest of October and all of November." The UJA President noted that UJA funds had helped to move 3,000 Moroccan Jews to Israel in September and 1,500 during the first week of October. He pointed out in this connection that these Jews were the most directly affected during the August disturbance in Morocco and had appealed to both the UJA and the Jewish Agency in Jerusalem for the swiftest possible help in moving them to Israel.

Boss Worked Out of Job

Williamsburg, Va. (AP) — The employees at a department store here worked like beavers and piled up a sales record that won a 10-day trip to Bermuda for Manager J. B. Hickman. Relatively simple, said Hickman. He just told the employees they could get rid of him for 10 days by winning the contest.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

Thoughts of Columbus Day

run through the Ruminator's mind as he writes this week's piece.

Columbus Day serves to re-emphasize the privileges and blessings we enjoy as Americans. Nothing, it seems to me, is more vital to the preservation of our future than the survival of individualistic patriotism. Nationalism (individualism), not one-worldism, remains the great hope of Christian civilization, I believe.

Cooperation among sovereign nations? Yes, by all means; but conjunction and conversation of nations into a bickering bloc—NO, never (I hope).

As I look out the window of my editorial workshop upon the colorful Vermont fall foliage, so beautiful while it lasts, my thoughts run like this: Just as the falling red and yellow leaves foretell the chilling changes to come, so does one have a feeling of apprehension over the further drifting of socio-political trends in our national life.

THE PRESIDENT'S sudden and unexpected heart attack seems destined to mark another fork in the constantly changing, direction of socio-economic thought and opinion.

In the brief period of his political career, Dwight Eisenhower has blended a nation-wide group into what he calls "moderate progressives"—but which we more familiarly term "middle roaders." In the broad band of conservative thought—running from the extreme right back toward the indefinable line between "right and left"—middle roaders remain "conservative" in their socio-political viewpoints, as measured by modern standards.

But as the thought of Columbus Day throws your mind back through the history of American socio-political and economic trends you recognize that what is middle-road thinking today would have been left-of-center philosophy "only yesterday."

Accordingly, inasmuch as the drift has been persistently leftward down through the decades, one ruminates over the fork in the road which now confronts us in the post-Eisenhower era.

It is assuredly not to be expected that the political road to be taken will be the right fork! What seems likely is that definitions will continue to change. The middle-roader, for instance, will impress upon you that his viewpoint, and philosophy, is conservative, and that those who stand to the right of him are radicals and reactionaries. This is the old game of semantics, played to the bitter end by politicians; and to be played, you may be sure, by the liberal-minded, middle-road Republicans in our midst, here in the northeastern section of these United States. With like incapacitated for weeks to come, those closest to him, and shielding him from both people and politics, will cement the middle of the road into a smooth-running path for their ideas and propaganda. Those of a "rightist" frame of mind will be shouldered into the ditch and covered with mud; the shoving and shuffling have already commenced, if we may believe the purveyors of "inside information" from Washington.

THE RUMINATOR has just been reading "Conservatism in America," by Professor Clinton Rossiter, of Cornell. This is a new book which purports to analyze social trends and traditions in America socio-political life. What it comes down in the final approach is an appeal for "a new conservatism." Without my telling you, you know that a new conservatism means another step to the left, not to the right.

"The new conservatism, of course (sic)," asserts Professor Rossiter, "will be new only in the limited sense that it is a fresh and improved version of current conservative thinking." You thus see how smoothly and appealingly a writer works "new" definitions into his thesis in order to get our minds to go along with him.

We "old conservatives" will note the falling of leaves on this Columbus Day of 1955 and ponder over the definitions and changes which are sure to come.

Iron Lung Cooler

Chicago (AP) — Polio patients confined to uncomfortably warm iron lungs are promised relief by air conditioning. It's the idea of Tohru Inouye of the research staff of the University of Illinois Research and Educational Hospitals. He began research two years ago after he noticed that many polio patients were near heat exhaustion while sealed in the mechanical respirators. Temperatures inside the iron lung have gone as high as 107 degrees, he said. A. Edward Kurck, an air conditioning engineer, redesigned an air diffuser. The unit enables temperatures to be maintained at 80 to 85 degrees.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)
BREAD AND BUTTER LETTERS

"A man I knew quite well in college stayed at our house recently for several days. While he was here we took him to the house of friends of ours for dinner and to spend the evening. While he thanked my wife and the hostess who entertained him at dinner, he did not write either of them to thank them for their hospitality. They of course feel that he was lacking in appreciation by not writing. It seems to me I read that it was not necessary to write the so-called bread and butter letter if the guest personally thanked his hosts before he left. Am I right about this?"

He should have written a bread and butter letter to your wife but none to the dinner hostess.

Their Golden Wedding
Dear Mrs. Post: My mother and father will soon celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. We plan to have open house and expect about 100 friends and relatives to call during the afternoon. Should they open their gifts as they receive them, or put them aside until later? What brought this question up was the possibility that some who call will bring gifts and some probably will not, and we do not want those who come empty-handed to feel embarrassed. Also would it be proper for my parents to receive their guests sitting down? They are quite elderly and I'm afraid it will be too much for them to stand any length of time.

Answers: Because they are elderly, it is entirely proper for them to remain seated. They should open their presents and show their appreciation as they are opened. Thank each donor at that time so as not to have to write a letter later. Those who have not brought presents need not feel embarrassed because presents are not exacted.

How should the young men of a small wedding party be dressed? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-8, "Today's Typical Wedding" describes the small wedding. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

THE RETAILING GROUP

of Kingston High School have been undertaking a series of field trips to Kingston stores. Working in groups of three the senior students have been conducting surveys of various phases of merchandizing.

Topics discussed as the results of these trips have included eye-minded buying, related grouping, product information, and brand names.

At a special assembly last week Loryn Connick, head of the high school business department and Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, explained to the business students the importance of selling as a profession.

The speakers explained to the group the advantages to be gained from a course in retailing. A manager of a small country drug store needs to know as much about retailing as does the manager of a large department store. The object of the assembly was to impress the students with the importance and dignity of selling as a profession.

Convicts Acquitted

Carson City, Nev. Oct. 15 (AP)—Three convicts have been acquitted in the first court test of a unique 1886 Nevada law pinning responsibility for deaths during a prison break on the escaping convicts. A jury of seven men and five women returned a verdict of innocent last night for the Nevada State Prison convicts. They were charged in the death of Prison Guard George Miller, 59, during a prison break last year. The three men were caught within a few hours in nearby hills. They are Theodore Gene Liebie, 21, convicted kidnaper of Cambridge, Minn.; Don Guloveen, 27, Coos Bay, Ore., forger; and William R. Burman, 25, Chicago robber. They had commandeered the truck as Miller drove by.

Costume jewelry, plus a touch of the real thing, is a favorite way for school girls to give their clothes a look of individuality. This fall's jewelry for teenagers plays up the traditional favorites, but it's adapted to point up seasonal styles. Pearls (left) come in a long rope with back interest to fancy up a camisole top.

The trim tailored shirt (center) gets its perfect finishing touches with the most necessary of all, the class ring and the watch. The dress-up suit (right) gets a pair of pins on the scarf and button earrings in double link design.

George Welsh, possibly the ablest split-T operator in the country, was once within an unshaved stubble of getting cut from the Navy grid forces . . . as a plebe yet . . . the same Gigi, as the boys call him, who couldn't get a football scholarship to go to college because he was rated too small. . . .

On the Navy plebe team in 1952, Welsh was no better than fourth string . . . and despaired of ever getting into a game. . . .

One afternoon the plebes were clobbering the opposition so badly, Coach Dick Duden decided to empty the bench . . . the fourth stringers gathered round him—but no quarterback. . . . "Where's Welsh?" ran the frantic cry. . . . "He's gone!" . . . "Go find him!" yelled Duden, "or he'll keep right on going." and dispatched a student manager . . . who discovered George the Genius under the stands—practicing his timing on handoffs. . . . He went into the game, threw two quick touchdown passes . . . and thus are All-Americans found. . . .

The rookie find of the National Football League, Pittsburgh Steeler end Ed Bernert, couldn't hold down a regular job at Southern Methodist last year. . . .

Coach Bob Blackman is determined Dartmouth will be prepared for action at all times. . . . It's no novelty for teams to engage in calisthenics and signal drills before a game, but the Hanover Indians go through the same routine on the field before starting the second half. . . . Paul Brown's reaction to the football dabbings of his boy, Mike, second string Dartmouth quarterback: "Oh, he just plays at it." . . .

The president of the New York Touchdown Club is Century Miltard, the old Yale All-American tackle. . . . and that's his real handle—he was born the first day of the 20th century . . . named his boy Century, Jr. . . .

One of the bone-cracking fullbacks of the country is Stanford's Bill Tarr, who used to be bothered chronically with charley horses . . . spent one summer in a logging camp running 10 miles to and from the lumber mill, got his legs so hard they knotted up on him completely. . . . now spends his summers rolling on the sands and has never run better in the fall . . . (a sandhog, huh?) . . . A must on a football weekend in Atlanta is Harvey Hestor's Aunt Fanny's Cabin . . . the same Harvey Hestor who launched Herman Hickman on his wrestling career by staging a program in the basement of the Baptist Church in Asheville, N. C. . . . drew $100,000 . . . a much more successful launching than that of his Miami Seahawks. . . .

"Football's Greatest Coaches," a tome authored by Edwin Pope, who was covering college games at a tender 13, just hit this desk—but not with a thud, mind you. . . .

Pardon the basketball intrusion, but the figure Tom Gola signed for with the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Association was $11,000, considerably under his original demand of $100,000. . . . two other rookies, Maurice Stokes of Rochester and Dick Ricketts of St. Louis, were penned for five figures . . . mainly because of competing bids by the Harlem Globetrotters. . . .

It'll be a shocker around the NBA when they find out how one of their lustrous recruits worked his way through college. . . .

Jim Salsbury, the peagreen middle guard of the Detroit Lions via UCLA, is called the best player he ever produced for "pro football specifications" by Red Sanders. . . . Coach Sanders and disciple Tommy Prothro, the Oregon State head man, should know Dick Ricketts of St. Louis, were penned for five figures . . . mainly because of competing bids by the Harlem Globetrotters. . . .

Sam Brown, the swifty who displaced publicized Uncle tailback Ronnie Knox, is a first choice baseballer who was once a Legion teammate of Tiger catcher J. W. Porter. . . .

Between you'n me, wonder if Jack Mitchell, starting slowly at Arkansas, knows he was in line to succeed a retiring Don Faurat at Missouri after this season? . . .

Southern Cal Cracks Wisconsin Squad, 33-21

(By The Associated Press)

If Southern California's victory over Wisconsin is any indication, this may be a day of upsets in college football.

The Trojans walloped the Badgers from the Big Ten, ranked 6th nationally, 33-21 in a Friday night scrap before 75,162 in Memorial Coliseum at Los Angeles.

This could point the finger at Michigan, Maryland, Oklahoma, Notre Dame and Georgia Tech, the teams ranked above Wisconsin in the Associated Press poll. All were favored to win today but a football takes some funny bounces and come sundown Northwestern, North Carolina, Kansas, Michigan State and Auburn might have reason to do some crowing.

Halfback Jon Arnett led Southern Cal as the Trojans blasted Wisconsin out of the unbeaten ranks with four touchdowns in the second half. Wisconsin led at the half 7-6.

ARNETT TALLIED two touchdowns, one on a 55-yard sprint to open the scoring and the other on a four-yard buck in the final 16 seconds. He was ably assisted by fullback C. R. Roberts, who also crossed Wisconsin's goal line twice.

Quarterback Jim Haluska started for Wisconsin. On one play he flipped a 75-yard buck forward pass to John Bridgerman. Fullback Charley Thomas bucked for two of the Badgers' scores.

Denver was favored to whip Utah, but was upset by the Redskins 27-7 in another Friday night encounter.

Vanderbilt battled hard against a reluctant Chattanooga line to win 12-0.

Dave Orr, a skinny 148-pound halfback, scored three touchdowns to lead Colorado Mines to a 26-14 victory over Colorado College in the Rocky Mountain conference.

Heavy rain postponed Detroit at Boston College until tonight. Cloudy skies and mid-50 temperatures were forecast at East Lansing, Mich., as Notre Dame, unbeaten, untied and unscored upon, took on Michigan State. Light showers were possible.

THE IRISH, favored by a touchdown, rested its offense on the running and passing of quarterback Paul Hornung, fullback Don Schaefer and sophomore halfback Aubrey Lewis of Montclair, N. J. Against Earl, MSC tossed quarterback Earl Morrall and halfback Clarence Peaks.

Oklahoma, ranked No. 3, figured to have yet another winning homecoming for the old grads, opening the Big Seven conference season against Kansas. The Sooners were set to stretch their winning streak (longest active string among the collegians) to 23 games.

Michigan, No. 1 in the nation, and Maryland, dumped to No. 2 this week, appear to have it easy on paper at least. Michigan had nothing more serious than

Kingston - Middletown Game Postponed Again to Monday

Kingston High School's DUSO football game with Middletown High was postponed again today by torrential rains and a flooded field.

The contest, originally scheduled last night, will be played Monday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock, Athletic Director G. Warren Kias said this morning.

Poughkeepsie called off its big meeting with Port Jervis until Monday afternoon, 2:15 o'clock. Poughkeepsie coach Sam Kalloch had intended to play the game, downpour or not, but travel conditions for the Port Jervis team became too hazardous.

The Kingston-Port Jervis freshman game, slated at Dietz Stadium, for Monday, will be played there Tuesday because of the varsity game.

Mr. Kias added, however, that the KHS-Port junior varsity game will be played at Port Jervis Monday afternoon as originally scheduled, weather permitting.

KIAS REPORTED the Kingston field "under water and unplayable."

"Actually," the KHS director said, "it was better last night."

Four other contests were postponed, and it looked as if one of these wouldn't be played at all.

Pawling and New Paltz will play Monday afternoon at the latter's field, beginning at 3:30 o'clock.

The Highland-Cardinal Farley Military Academy clash at Rhinecliff has been rescheduled for Monday, tentatively at 3 o'clock.

ONTEORA's game with the Hudson junior varsity will probably not be played, OCS coach Ed Witko said this morning. Neither club has an open date on future weekends.

At press time today it was uncertain whether or not the Liberty-Saugerties contest would be played tonight. The tilt was originally set at the Sawyer gridiron last night.

Sports of the Day

IN BRIEF
(By The Associated Press)

TENNIS

MEXICO CITY—Mary Ann Mitchell, dark horse of the Pan American tournament, defeated Mexico's Rosa Maria Reyes 6-4, 6-3 to gain the finals against British champion Angela Mortimer.

RACING

CAMDEN, N. J.—Trentonian ($2.80) defeated Lord Rusty by a length in the Pitman purse at Garden State Park.

NEW YORK—Palm Tree ($12.30) scored easily in the wind and rain in Belmont's New Rochelle Classified Handicap.

After Track Coach
Eugene, Ore.—(NEA)—Oregon plays its home football games on Hayward Field, named after the famous track coach.

winless Northwestern to tangle with a Big Ten game. Maryland played an Atlantic Coast conference game against North Carolina.

A pair of top intersectional games shared the weekend spotlight. Duke, champs of the Orange Bowl, and Ohio State, victors in the Rose Bowl, met at Columbus, Ohio, in a battle of bowl barons. It was a "pick 'em" game, despite the fact Ohio State was beset with backfield injuries, including a minor hurt to All-American Hopalong Cassidy.

In the other intersectional meeting, Baylor tested unbeaten Washington at Seattle.

THREE IMPORTANT conference games also highlighted the day's schedule. Georgia Tech, No. 5, was confronted by Auburn's big bid for a Southeastern conference crown; Texas Christian, No. 7, had a chance to further its Southwest conference ambitions against Texas A & M, beaten only by UCLA; and Cornell and Yale, co-champs of the Ivy League last season, met anew at New Haven, Conn.

Navy (No. 8) and UCLA (No. 9) had semi-soft pickings while West Virginia (No. 10) was expected to maul William and Mary. The Middies, also unbeaten and unscored upon, were confronted by mid and Penn State. UCLA, tops defensively in the Pacific Coast conference, ran in to Stanford, tops offensively.

Other top games in the East: Harvard at Columbia, Syracuse at Army, Rutgers at Brown, Nebraska at Pitt, Drake at Boston U. and Colgate at Princeton.

An Ohio man remarried his divorced wife—probably hoping to hear her say some nice things about her former husband.

A girl in a southern town was crowned "Miss Happiness." We'd enjoy crowning some people who never look like they have any.

A six-year-old girl who won a beauty contest in the east said she winked at the judges. An easy way to win by an eyelash.

Why We Say...

HUSBAND

There is no doubt about who is head of the house if you really knew the meaning of the word husband. It comes from the two Anglo-Saxon words hus and bonda which mean house and master... now who's boss of the house?

OFFICE CAT

Trade Mark Reg. By JUNIUS

Most of us fail to learn that wherever we go we take our happiness or unhappiness with us.

The fellow who spent a quiet vacation at home, might not have been broadened, but he wasn't flattened either.

Beggar—Say, mister, can you give me six cents for a cuppa coffee?

Man—Coffee is a dime!

Beggar—So, who buys retail?

Probably nothing hurts a woman's vanity more than having to put on her glasses to apply her lipstick.

During the term of a pension examiner occur many incidents, but this one should receive special attention.

One day while examining a witness, the examiner asked this question?

Examiner—Terence McCarty, do you swear that you know the applicant, Michael Murphy, who has made application for an increase of pension?

Terence—You may well say that I do. Me and him were shot in the same leg at Antietam.

My daughter Mary Rebecca, 14, was born Feb. 12, Lincoln's Birthday, and my son Charles, 12, was born Feb. 12, Lincoln's Birthday—Mrs. R. W. Hammack, Jackson, Miss.

in perfect content. The cat, also happy, began to purr loudly. Bobby gazed at her for a while, then suddenly seized her by the tail and dragged her roughly away from the hearth.

His mother said:

Mother—You must not hurt your kitty, Bobby.

Bobby—I'm not, but I've got to get her away from the fire. She's beginning to boil.

Rayburn Lauds Ike, Hits Others in GOP

Farmington, Mo., Oct. 15 (AP)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) praised President Eisenhower, but lashed out at the rest of the Republican party in a Democratic fund-raising tour of Missouri's Eighth Congressional District yesterday.

Rayburn climaxed his tour at a $10 a plate dinner here last night.

He called Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson the best friend the Democrats will have in the 1956 elections if the "present unfavorable position of the nation's farmers continues."

The Texas Democrat said the people elected a national hero as President in 1952 but showed they don't trust the Republican party because they later returned Democratic majorities to the House and Senate.

Speaking of the President, Rayburn called him "the best the Republicans have got," but added, "I don't care who the Republicans nominate, the Democrats will win next year."

Stevenson Keeps Decision on '56 Race to Himself

Kingston, Ont., Oct. 15 (AP)—Former Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois said last night he has made his mind up on whether he will be a contender for the Democratic presidential nomination. But he kept his decision to himself.

He said if he is "offered" the Democratic nomination, as he was at Chicago in 1952, he would accept it.

"My impression is, however, that I will not be offered the nomination," he said.

"I PLAN to make known my stand in the near future," he told reporters at a 35-minute news conference. He is in Kingston to receive an honorary degree at Queen University tomorrow.

He also said he was "very confident" of a Democratic victory in the presidential election in November 1956.

He had no direct information either from former President Truman or New York Gov. Averell Harriman of any recent change in their attitude toward his possible candidacy, he said.

Dentist Purchases Home, Office Site

DR. H. P. KWASNOWSKI
Dr. Henry P. Kwasnowski has purchased from Pearl Zimet her dwelling at 253 Washington avenue. The property, combining both a residence and professional offices for the practice of dentistry, is presently being occupied by the new owner and his family.

Dr. Kwasnowski, a veteran of World War 2, is a native of Hudson, where his wife, the former Rose Mary Malone, also was born. He attended Alliance College, Cambridge Springs, Pa., and was graduated from Tufts University, School of Dental Medicine. They have three children.

Dr. Kwasnowski announces the opening of his office for the general practice of dentistry as of this date.

Details for the purchase of the real property were handled by Harold W. O'Connor, Albany avenue realtor.

Decision Is Held Off on Motion About Fuel Tax

New York, Oct. 15 (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Matthew M. Levy reserved decision Friday on a taxpayers motion to compel Carmine G. DeSapio as secretary of New York state, to make known that a proposed constitutional amendment for highway construction will carry with it an increase in gasoline and diesel motor fuel oil taxes.

The taxpayer, Arthur M. Bluestein, who was not further identified, contended that an "abstract" assertedly prepared by the state official for publication in newspapers failed to advise the voters of the increase.

IN COURT TODAY the plaintiff's attorney, Joseph M. Proskauer, former Supreme Court justice, said that "the people of this state should not be asked to buy a pig in a poke."

The former jurist said, however, he was not "making any charges of bad faith."

He explained "we are not challenging the amendment as either good or bad, but the voter should be informed of the effect of the amendment and should know that it will increase his taxes. How anyone is going to be harmed by telling the truth to the voters I do not see."

HE ASKED that a new abstract be prepared for publication in newspapers, explaining that there would be a tax of two cents a gallon on gasoline, and three cents a gallon on diesel fuel.

Opposing the motion Solicitor General James O. Moore Jr., said that the challenged abstract detailed the full effect of the proposed amendment.

He said "it would be almost ludicrous to talk about advising the voter of the gas tax increase when the issues have been debated up and down the state."

Moore added that "there was no attempt to hide anything."

The proposed amendment would permit the state to borrow up to $750,000,000 for highway construction, parkways, arterials in cities and for grade crossing elimination. It would be financed by a tax.

friendly to the Soviets when Eisenhower was elected, but now those governments have been replaced by friends of the United States.

KOREA, HALL said, seemed "almost an endless war."

"Dwight D. Eisenhower went to Korea. . . soon after, the Korean War came to an end. I think that is a tremendous accomplishment."

"They (the American public) like this peace with prosperity," Butler said in answer: "Mr. Hall may say his party won peace in Korea, but the terms were such that Sen. Knowland, the then GOP Senate majority leader, called it 'peace without honor.'"

"Hall said the Korean War might not have happened if the Truman administration had recognized that Communists were behind the Chinese civil war—not agrarian reformers."

"Yes, I think there was a bipartisan foreign policy in Europe," Hall said. "But you couldn't convince any Fair Dealer that there was a Communist in Asia."

HALL SAID the Eisenhower administration gave the country "prosperity like we never dreamed of before, but more important—a prosperity with peace."

He said more Americans are employed than at any time in history and that wages are higher than ever.

Butler charged that the Eisenhower administration "with its cabinet made up solely of representatives of super big business" favors the interests of business. "Corporations' take-home pay last year—that is—profits after taxes, went up 26 per cent over the year before. But the average person's take-home pay was only 3 per cent," Butler said.

"THE STOCKHOLDER feels this Republican prosperity," but the farmer isn't feeling it."

"Members of our cabinet don't represent any particular segment of our people," Hall said. "That cabinet under President Dwight D. Eisenhower represents all 160 million Americans."

"Two-thirds of this farm drop he talks about happened under the Truman administration."

Madrid, capital of Spain, lies almost at the exact geographical center of that country.
